Madam Chemist

Thank you for your guidance. The [REDACTED] trial scheduled tomorrow will not be reached and will be continued. We will give you the new date when we get it. Probably sometime in November.

Thank you for your patience.

I would give a general idea of how samples are submitted, processed, tested and returned to the police dept. And usually that works.

There is a strong possibility the trial will be continued as a result of court congestion due to a murder case starting on 9/19. If that should be confirmed, I will contact you right away.

of the predicate questions you have provided to another in my office. I will certainly use them at trial. Please advise.
